Summary

A recently qualified Software Developer with a background as a repair technician, website developer, SEO consultant and a vast time in retail. Works very well within a group, but also able to work individually to meet company targets. Is happy to work remotely as well as do overtime when required and is able to think outside the box when finding solutions to problems.

Work Experience

February 2020 – Present Day

Student/Freelancer

The Training Room

United Kingdom

Studying for 2 years on a Software Development Course, bringing myself back up to industry standards. During my time studying on this course, I started a few minor little projects which can be viewed on my portfolio site. After finishing my course, I have been trying to get my foot in the door at a company so I can work and learn at the same time. Whilst looking for such a role I have been doing some Freelancer work.

November 2016 – February 2019

Workshop Manager/Technician

The Laptop Workshop

United Kingdom

During my time at The Laptop Workshop, I used my logical mind-set to help streamline a lot of the old and dated processes, which in-turn allowed for a more streamline service for customers. I designed new procedures for how the workload was dealt with after being booked in which allowed for improved turnaround times, easier to track job statuses, and how far from completion a job was.

- Opening and closing of the store
- Cash Handling
- Booking in repairs
- Troubleshooting Desktop PC's, Laptops, MacBook's, iMacs, iPhones Diagnosing Software & Hardware Faults
